Play Cast Includes Faculty, Students

The Curious Savages, written by John Patrick, will be the selection presented by Saint Joseph's Calumet Center. This entertainingly humorous play promises to be a most enjoyable experience. It would be worthwhile to mark, Nov. 17, on your calendar and plan to attend this production, which includes both faculty members and St. Joe students in the cast. The play is being directed and produced by a former Center student, now a member of the faculty, Mr. Denver Sasser. The Whiting Community Center, 1938 Clark St. is "where to go" for this Saturday evening performance. The time? 8: p.m.

The plot of The Curious Savages revolves around the admitting of Mrs. Savage, played by Miss Carol Blake, to her new home, the "Cloisters." The "Cloisters" is actually an insane asylum. Whether or not Mrs. Savage & her "inmates" should actually be considered insane will be decided by you.

Other characters include the people living in the "Cloisters" when Mrs. Savage arrives. Fairy Mae, portrayed by Madelene Frechette; Florence, played by Mary Lou Kandalak; Jeff, who is better known as Jerry Bercik; Mrs. Paddy, played by our favorite art instructor, Miss Spuehler, and Hannibal, is played by Doctor Dean. The doctor in the "Cloisters" is Dr. Emmett, portrayed by Tom McCutchen and the nurse, Miss Willie, is played by Sarah Regan. Those who are responsible for admitting Mrs. Savage to the "cloisters" are her children. Senator Titus Savage is portrayed by Mark Biel; Samuel Savage, the judge, is played by George Nissam and their "debutante" sister, Lilly Belle, is portrayed by Rita Johnson.

Bulletin—Dean of Students Office:
The Student Handbook contains the following: "The Violation of any of the following regulations renders a student liable to SUSPENSION or DISMISSAL:

This statement covers every student who attends such an event.

Council Starts Liturgical Study

The Ecumenical Council Monday began debate on possible reforms in liturgy, including the use of modern languages instead of the traditional Latin in rites of public worship and the mass.

The three-hour debate in the council hall in St. Peter's Basilica was conducted in Latin. A council press spokesman indicated some disagreement on the draft of the proposed new constitution for liturgy presented to the 2,537 council "fathers."

One of the speakers was Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York. His view was not disclosed. Neither were those of the other 19 prelates that took part in the opening discussions.

St. Peter's Square was the scene of a minor traffic jam as the hundreds of cars and buses bearing the council fathers arrived for the first real working session.

A group of American tourists waved and cheered when Cardinal Spellman arrived in the square. He smiled and took off his red skull cap in acknowledgement.

Before settling down the debate on liturgy—the first of some 70 items up for possible discussion—the council heard the results of the elections for members of the three vital commissions. The elected members of the seven other commissions were announced Saturday.

Who will win this year? Maybe it will be you. Whether or not you think your costume will be picked as the best, you should attend the Halloween Dance Wednesday. Thursday, All Saints Day, is free, so come out and enjoy yourself.

Scholastic Committee Formed

Herman Jerry, Vice-president of the Student Council and chairman of the Scholastic Committee recently announced that all the appointments to the staff have been made. Representatives include: Ted Mason, senior representative; Leon Kmiec, junior representative; Linda Bogee, sophomore representative; and Fred Van Klavren, freshman representative.

At this time Herman also stated the method the students should follow in reporting a grievance to the committee. Rules are as follows: contact your class representative to make a formal complaint. After a complaint has been made the chairman will call a meeting with the Academic Dean for the purpose of arriving at some degree of mutual satisfaction.

In conclusion Herman stated, "This committee was established for the benefit of the students and it is their responsibility to follow this formal procedure if they desire to see action taken."

PRAY FOR THE SUCCESS of the Ecumenical Council

Six Americans were included in the list released Monday, making a total of 19 elected to the 10 committees which will direct the work of the historic conclave. Each commission is headed by a cardinal appointed by Pope John XXIII and includes 24 members, 16 elected by the council and eight named by the pontiff.

The Americans whose elections were announced are: Archbishop Joseph McGucken of San Francisco; Bishop Francis Reh of Charleston, S.C.; Bishop Edward Daly of Des Moines; Bishop Joseph McShea of Allentown, Pa.; Archbishop Patrick O'Boyle of Washington, D.C., and Msgr. John P. Cody, co-adjutor of New Orleans.

Liturgy is the form of prayers, acts and ceremonies used in rites of public worship and, in particular, the mass.

The council press office said in a verbal communique after the closed session that "not all of those who spoke were in favor" of the proposed new constitution.

Basically the idea of liturgical reform is to have the public take a more active part in the mass, or as one observer here said, "to bring the altar closer to the people."

One of the more important points of possible reform is the use of modern languages instead of Latin in certain parts of the mass.

MEET THE FACULTY

Mr. T. Murray - Author, Scholar - Joins Calumet Center Faculty

Mr. Thomas James Murray, member of St. Joseph's teaching staff since September, is the author of a paper which could be of great interest to most St. Joseph students. The title of the paper? A Case Study in Budgeting.

Mr. Murray was born at Wahpeton, North Dakota. He received his elementary education at St. John's Parochial School at Wahpeton. His high school years were spent at Wahpeton High School, Wahpeton.

From Wahpeton, Mr. Murray traveled to Collegeville, Minnesota, where here received his college education at St. John's University. During his college years, he also spent some time at the University of Vienna in Vienna, Austria.

Mr. Murray has also studied at the University of Chicago, where he received an MBA in Business Administration. He also holds a BA in Social Science from St. John's University.

Before coming to St. Joseph's, Mr. Murray was an instructor at Southeast Branch Chicago City Junior College. He had also been employed as an auditor by the Arthur Andersen Company.

Besides the Case Study in Budgeting done at the University of Chicago, Mr. Murray also worked on a case study of the Reuben H. Connelley Corporation.

Mr. Murray was admitted to the Beta Gamma Sigma Fraternity in 1957.

Mr. Murray

A Perpetual Food Supply

That old saying, "The best way to a man's heart is through his stomach", has once again taken on new meaning among the students who pass up and down our corridors. The students have rephrased it to "The best way to a student's wallet is through his stomach".

This statement, without a doubt, is entirely true. If you doubt it, just remember that no less than four bake sales have been sponsored by various clubs and classes. There is good reason for saying this, too. Every one of the sales has netted the sponsor a substantial profit, and the prospect for future such events is very great.

The latest organization to hold this event was the Future Teachers Club. Under the direction of Colleen Ward, the club made available to the students enough food that it took two days to sell.

An instructor in St. Joe's Business Department, Mr. Murray teaches courses in intermediate accounting, income tax accounting, principles of marketing, and marketing research.

Mr. Murray, his wife, Marilyn and their three children, Timothy, Maureen, and Ann are now residents of Park Forest, Illinois.

Roving Reporter

This week the Roving Reporter asked the students their ideas on a very current topic. What is your opinion on Kennedy's action on the Cuban Crisis?

Harry Heckert—Senior—"I'm all for it!! But why so late—?"

Ron Maginot—Frosh—"I think this was better to take action than to go along with the Russians holding a knife at our back."

Barbara Sullivan — Frosh — "I think it was about time for America to take the offensive."

Narcine Sherpetosky—Soph—"I think Mr. Kennedy should have forewarned the citizens of his decision perhaps a few days before posting the blockade. This might have eased tension among the peoples of all nations when the quarantine was finally put into action. I am for it but I wouldn't want to be rash to incite a war."

Carolyn Galik Junior — "I don't think that Kennedy is going far enough. I think that he should make a firmer stand and take sterner action. He's been letting the Russians push us around too long."

Denny Matusiak—Soph—"I'm backing Kennedy 100%. This movement isn't dealing with the U.S. and Cuba alone, but deals with freedom. Some time and some where it will have to end—so it might as well be now."

James HiDuke—Soph—"Putting it mildly—Three Cheers—He's now making up for the badly blundered, ill-supported Bay of Pigs Invasion. Peaceful coexistence, cognomen for war, will not work. It's time to take a stand."

John Dvorske — Junior — "Although I haven't been a Kennedy fan in the past I support him wholeheartedly on this decision on Cuba. I don't possibly see how this government could have waited another day. Let's all hope its not too late already to avert a world wide disaster."

Bette Moles — Junior — "When I listened to President Kennedy's speech Monday night, I'll admit I was scared as well as worried. I am glad he took this action, though. I think that the Russians are now finding out that we can only be pushed so far. We've been pushed and now finally we are pushing back."

Jin Tobolski—Junior—"It's about time we took some action."

WHO CAN THIS BE? Even though this '61 Morton High graduate is little taller now, and has quite a bit more hair, he has still been described as "a Cute fella". When he's not diligently working on his accounting, he's usually diligently dating Cynthia V. Watch next week for the identity of this person.

Nursing School; Leon Kmiec, night representative.

The meeting was begun with a prayer led by Ed Latek. The main purpose of the meeting was to make final arrangements for the "pow-wow." The minutes were approved as read. The treasurer reported a balance of $689.63 in the treasury. The chairman of the scholastic committee, Herman Jerry, reported that the members of the committee will meet within the next week. James Kick, chairman of the athletic committee reported that he had contacted Mr. Patrick, who informed Jim that the gymnasium could be had on either Tuesday or Thursday evenings for basketball games. To reserve the gym for any evening requires the presence of fifteen players. The gym can be used for one hour. The games will begin on November 17.

The following is a budget submitted by Joe Glorioso for the Halloween Dance. The budget was submitted for the purpose of obtaining a loan from the council. The budget was approved.

Expected revenue
(150 tickets @ $1.50)	$225.00
Total expenses:	$212.97
Profit	$ 12.03

Ed Latek reported that Father Smolar was not able to attend the meeting because of illness; he is in the hospital.

On Saturday, October 20, the "pow-wow" will be held at Marquette Park. A car-caravan will leave school at 7:00 p.m. There will be a bon-fire on the beach and dancing on the pavillion terrace. Sloppy-joes, potato chips, and "Pepsis" will be served. The council approved the admission price of $.50 per person.

Jerry Bercik then gave a report concerning the December 1, St. Joseph-Notre Dame basketball game. One-hundred tickets will be sold for five dollars ($5.00) a piece. The ticket will include a bus ride to and from the game, the ticket into the game, and the price of dinner and dancing at Spiccia's Restaurant. Those interested can sign up for tickets during the week of November 19 through 24. The tickets may be picked up during the week of November 26 through 30. Joe Glorioso motioned that the council approve this activity; Mary Stokes seconded the motion. It was approved by the council. Jerry Bercik then motioned that the freshman class be allowed to sponsor a bake-sale on November 14, 15, and 16. Joe Glorioso seconded the motion which was approved by the council. The next Student Council meeting will be held October 29. The next Student Union meeting is scheduled for November 6. The meeting was then adjourned, with no new business to discuss, at 9:15 p.m.

STUDENT SPOTLIGHT

Decides To Attend The Center After The College Day Program

Jerry Bercik, president of the freshmen class, is an alumnus of George Rogers Clark in Hammond. Jerry reports that after attending the College Day program held for area high school seniors last year, he decided that the Center had enough to offer, and this is why he enrolled.

Bercik claims membership in the Commerce Club, Future Teachers, the choir, a staff member of SHAVINGS, and he will also appear in the Curious Savages, a student production on Nov. 17.

This class president explains his reason for running for office. He said it was to organize the class because it seems to be an outstanding group. Those around Jerry say that he has shown considerable disappointment in the spirit and attitude of those whom he represents.

Even though he is only a freshman, Bercik has his field of study planned already. He is majoring in English, and minoring in education with hopes of teaching high school English.

Do You Remember?

TWO YEARS AGO:

The student publication was published for the first time under its new name, SHAVINGS. SHAVINGS was the original and the imaginative entry of John Kruzan, who won the "name-the-paper" contest.

The Presidents of the Student Councils of St. Joseph's College Calumet Center, Purdue Extension Calumet Campus, Indiana University Extensions, Gary and East Chicago met to discuss the matter of a Tug-of-War among the schools.

ONE YEAR AGO:

A surprise birthday party was held for the Calumet Center's favorite librarian, Viltis Vaichunas.

Play practice began for the one act plays to be held on Nov. 18. Margaret Frechette was director and also an actress in the plays. Frosh class officers decided upon their first project: a hayride followed by a barn dance to be held on Nov. 26.

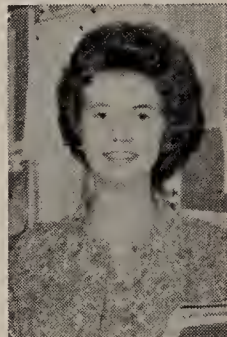

European Scholarship Program was announced for those undergraduates desiring to study in Europe during the academic year 1962-1963.

ART

Controversy About Bronzino: Stylist or Impressionist?

by Bernie Zenone

A "Portrait of a Young Man" by Bronzino is the Painting of the Week displayed, at this time, in the library of St. Joseph College Calumet Center. Bronzino was a Florentine painter, born at Monticelli, near Florence, in 1502. His real name was Angolo or Angiolo di Cosimo. He studied with Jacopo da Pontormo and Raffaelino del Garbo and was appointed court painter of portraits to Duke Cosmo I of Florence. Bronzino was one of the most famous painters of the sixteenth century, dealing with mythological and Biblical subjects.

In his masterpiece, "Portrait of a Young Man", Bronzino develops a precise, rigid style in which he utilizes an enamel-like surface, and rigid colors within clearly defined areas that might lead us to mistake him for an early Renaissance painter. As is stated by John Canaday in Metropolitan "Seminars in Art", "Bronzino was painting at a time when free technique, a rich surface, and considerable flexibility in color had been made possible by the replacement of tempera by oil. Therefore, Bronzino's somewhat atavistic use of line and color is close to affectation, no matter how effective it may be—and it is effective in the extreme."

Although Bronzino's portraits are deeply expressive of the times, they still lack a main quality, that of interpretation. Some painters claim that Bronzino is nothing more than a smart stylist. Artists of our times, however, realize that Bronzino's mannikin-like figures are just fronts, so to speak, for the hidden private life of the ducal courts of his time.

Bronzino's painting, which is preoccupied with style and theory, does not present the common feeling of most artists "to say something or appeal to the emotions"; it does, however, present a puzzling question of interpretation. Therefore, I will leave it up to you. What do you think the artist is trying to say?

Seymour Doolittle

We noticed lately that the upstairs lounge has been unusually span. Its inhabitants have informed me that it is all due to the efforts of a certain gal who works nervous tension caused by tedious teachers by sweeping the lounge. She may or may not receive a BA degree, but her chances for a MS look very hopeful.

was reported to me by my informants that St. Joe students enjoyed a great variety of clever and original costumes for the Halloween dance last Wednesday. I heard that...

Seymour Bercik went as Toulouse-Lautrec; Pat O'Rourke as Rich Maroc; Rich Maroc as Winston Churchill; David Giometti as Pope John XXIII; Ed Latek as J.F.K.; Mike Spiccia as George Diamond; Bob Harris as Rodan (the Bird); Dennis Matusiak as Wolf-Man; Bev Lagedyk as Chatty Cathy.

For a short period of time last week, St. Joseph's offered educational TV to any students venturing into the downstairs lounge. Upon entering one could view such educational programs as "Here's Gertrude," "Kukla, Fran and Ollie," "The Sherri Lewis Show," but I had missed my old favorite, "Howdy Doody Time."

Rumor has it that Mrs. Malchesky's favorite peice of music these days is "He's A Rebel." That just goes to show you how unreliable rumors can be.

Speaking about favorite songs, Mike Berilla's is "409." Could it be due to the fact that he recently became the proud owner of a shiny black Monza?

It seems that Mr. Federici is showing favoritism in his classes. Because of her numerous and "varied" answers, Mrs. Betty Smith reads his list of prodigies. I wonder if her attitude is contagious. If so, maybe it will rub off on some of his less loquacious students.

The other night while leafing through a rival newspaper, I came upon an article discussing how many books had been made into motion pictures or dramatized, and it got me to thinking that many books and novels titles, as well TV shows are very relevant to students and situations here at St. Joe. For example:

1. Romeo and Juliet—Jim Kick and Narcine Sherpetowski.
2. Dennis the Menace — Dennis Vojuodich
3. The Untouchables—Mid term and final grades
4. The Adventures of Huck Finn —Mike Quinn
5. Boy's Night Out—Friday night after classes
6. Advise and Consent—An open student council meeting
7. At Random — Either student lounge
8. Children's Hour—The Elementary Education Class
9. The Status Seekers—College Students
10. The Miracle Worker—A student who gets an A on a final exam.

EDUCATION

CLOSED-CIRCUIT TV USED AT ANN ARBOR

Closed-circuit television, widely employed as a teaching aid for surgical students, is now being used in the study of law as well.

The University of Michigan is operating a television circuit which links its law school classrooms with the Washtenaw County Circuit Court in downtown Ann Arbor, a mile away.

19. The Show of the Week—The Curious Savages.
20. The Twilight Zone—The Philosophy classes
21. Play Your Hunch—The Managerial Decision-Making Class
22. David and Goliath—Bob Harris and Jerry Bercik
23. Experiment in Terror—Senior Comps
24. The Nurses—Carol Klaussen, and Sharon Hightower
25. I've Got a Secret—Seymour Doolittle
26. Zoo Parade—Dr. Oliver and Dr. Predey
27. Meet the Press — Shavings Staff
28. Where the Boys Are—Riviera
29. The Wonderful World of Brothers Grim—The Seroczynski's and Zarembo's.
30. Follow That Dream—A College Education
31. The Valiant Years — Those spent in school

A television camera, operated by remote control, beams proceedings of the court to the classrooms where law students can observe, discuss and take notes at their leisure, without disturbing the court.

At dedication ceremonies for the new installation, John C. Satterfield, president of the American Bar Association, termed the use of TV "the most significant development in the study of law in the last 100 years."

Dr. Charles Joiner, associate dean of the law school, says the installation is the first of its kind in the United States and admits he borrowed the idea from the university medical school, where surgeons use TV as an instructional aid.

The idea has the enthusiastic support of Circuit Judge James R. Breakey Jr., himself a graduate of the Michigan law school.

"Far too many young lawyers come out of school and begin practice without ever having actually been in a courtroom," he said. "This is a great supplement to the academic training of future lawyers."

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL BEING PLANNED BY THE CENTER ATHLETIC COMMITTEE

Now that the football season is about at its mid-point people are beginning to think about basketball. Plans are already started here at the Center for organizing some type of basketball league for our students.

Thus far, the Athletic Committee has not had time to fully develop a definite program. So far there has been only one practice with seven upperclassmen attending. It was held at the Gary YMCA. The locating of a place to practice still presents a problem. The "Y" has been ruled out because of the money involved. The membership is twenty dollars a year per person. McKinley Gym, in East Chicago, will be available every Tuesday and Thursday starting November 13, with the time to be designated at a later date.

Plans for the future include preparing for games against the other Centers in the area.

The Athletic Committee, composed of Jim Kick, president, Phil Serozynski, Jim Tobolski, Jim Paskwicz, and Ed Polito, are hoping for more interest and enthusiasm this year and they wish to extend an invitation to any Center boy interested in basketball to contact them for information on the program.

NOTICE — CHOIR

Group 1: (26 mixed voices) This group will meet every Wednesday at eleven a.m. For the next week or two this choir is rehearsing in two sections: ladies' voices on Wednesdays, and men's voices on Fridays. Later, they will combine again.

Group 2. (Ladies' voices) Will meet every Tuesday at 6:40 p.m. For: Miss Dickerson, Miss Gabrys, Miss Lenzo, Miss Szelesy, Miss Burch.

Group 3—Cancelled because of poor attendance.

You will realise that working out a timetable to suit so many people has not been easy. It is hoped, therefore, that you will all be present. It is hoped that all groups will be combined at a later date.

This Wednesday is the Sophomore Class-sponsored Halloween Dance. The dance will take place at St. John's Panel Room in Whiting, Indiana. All are invited to attend and asked to wear costumes. Prizes will be awarded for the best costumes. Shown above are some of last year's attendants.
